

Lott makes ammo plant pitch to Defense Secretary Cheney

BY JANET MCQUEEN
Senator Trent Lott took advantage of a shared return flight to Washington, D.C., with U. S. Secretary of Defense Richard B. Cheney Thursday to state his case for saving the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant at Stennis Space Center.

Cheney was in Biloxi Thursday as featured speaker at the annual "Salute to the Military" dinner, which attracted 1,200 from the Coast's armed forces. Lott was on the Coast to welcome President George Bush and to introduce Cheney at the dinner.

The Army has planned to terminate procurement of the M483A1 155mm artillery ammunition the plant produces in Fiscal Year 1989, leaving the plant with no alternative but to shut down.

Lott and the late Congressman Larkin Smith argued for keeping the manufacturing facility open—echoing the plea from their constituents in the Fifth District. The plant employs approximately 1,700 persons in Hancock, Pearl River and Harrison counties and St. Tammany Parish in Louisiana and has a significant economic impact on those areas.

An option Lott is continuing to pursue, and one which may become a reality, is the sale of the ammunition to the Republic of Korea in FY 1990. Lott has proposed the sale of 100,000 rounds of the ammunition to the Koreans, who are considering modernization of their artillery ammunition reserve stocks.

Correspondence to Lott from Army Lt. Gen. Charles W. Brown indicates tentative plans by the Korean government to purchase 21,000 rounds in FY 1990, with an additional order of 35,000 rounds to be placed over the next five years.

"Secretary Cheney will meet with the Korean Minister of National Defense on Sunday (Oct. 15)," Lott said Friday. "I just happened to have my materials on the ammo plant on the plane yesterday."

The timing for South Mississippi couldn't have been better.

Fifth District run-off to be decided Tuesday

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Fifth Congressional District will have a new representative after Tuesday's run-off election between Gene Taylor and Tom Anderson.

Anderson, a Republican, is a former chief of staff to now-Senator Trent Lott, then Fifth District Congressman. He received 37 percent of the vote in the Oct. 3 special election.

Taylor, a Bay St. Louis resident who started his political career as a Bay city councilman and is serving as state senator, led the Oct. 3 returns with 42 percent of the vote.

He also ran second last year to the late Larkin Smith, whose seat will be filled by the run-off.

While Anderson carried Dia-mondhead on Oct. 3, Taylor carried Harrison County. Anderson is a Gulfport native.

State Attorney General Mike Moore, who also ran as a Democrat and was eliminated Oct. 3, got the other 21 percent of the vote.

The polls are open from 7 a.m. until 7 p.m.

Citizens group holds meeting against ASRM

BY D.C. HARVILL
A program on the potential health and environmental problems associated with NASA's Advanced Solid Rocket Motor (ASRM) tests proposed for Stennis Space Center drew a standing-room-only crowd Thursday evening.

Sponsors of the program at the Mississippi Power Company building, the Waveland-based group Citizens for a Healthy Environment (CHE), included a video tape of actual solid rocket tests conducted in Utah and slides outlining the numerous problems the group sees as inherent to the tests.

Dr. Robert Esher, head of environmental research at Mississippi State Research Center at Stennis Space Center, told the crowd he is primarily concerned that by-products from the test firings will endanger the health of people living in the areas of Mississippi and Louisiana surrounding the center.

Tests currently conducted at Stennis burn liquid oxygen and hydrogen and produce primarily water as a by-product.

Each two-minute ASRM test will dump approximately 362,000 pounds of aluminum oxide dust and 228,000 pounds of hydrogen chloride gas into the atmosphere.

Both chemicals are listed as toxic compounds, according to the Environmental Protection Agency.

When it combines with moisture in the air, the amount of hydrogen chloride produced by each test will form a minimum of 400 tons of hydrochloric acid aerosol.

Esher, author of two studies done for NASA pertaining to the ASRM project, cited scientific studies conducted at the University of Rochester that say acid aerosols are a health hazard, causing respiratory distress—bronchitis and asthma—especially in children.

"Hydrochloric acid is among the most corrosive of acids—it's nasty stuff," Esher said.

A series of slides taken over a five-minute period illustrated how corrosive the chemical is. In the first slide, a chunk of cinder block and a strip of heavy aluminum are placed in glass containers of the acid.

The cinder block dissolved almost immediately. In the slide taken at the end of the five minutes, the strip was totally dissolved.

Aluminum has been implicated as a contributing factor in Alzheimer's disease and numerous other neurological disorders, including "Lou Gehrig's Disease," Esher said.

He used studies conducted by Dr. Daniel Perl, director of neuropathology at Mount Sinai Medical Center in New York, to substantiate his comments about the danger of inhaling aluminum particles.

Perl's research has shown that inhaled aluminum goes directly to the brain, Esher said.

"Dr. Perl said he can introduce aluminum into the brain of any animal by inhalation. And that material (the aluminum oxide dust) is going to be put into the atmosphere where we can breathe it," the researcher said.

Supervisors want more info on possible ASRM effects

BY DENA BISNETTE
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has agreed to ask members of the coast's congressional delegation for more information regarding possible effects of NASA's Advanced Solid Rocket Motor (ASRM) project.

Beat Three Supervisor Lisa Cowand made the same motion she made at the previous meeting, when it died for lack of a second.

This time, it was seconded by Beat One Supervisor Robert Peterson and received a unanimous vote from the supervisors present. (Beat Five Supervisor Michael Ladner was absent

Friday.)

The resolution asked that Senator Trent Lott, Representative Thad Cochran and whoever is elected in Tuesday's Fifth District run-off provide more information concerning the possible effects of the ASRM.

The board recently was addressed by a research scientist who questioned the environmental safety of the project, which has also been a major issue at several public meetings about the ASRM.

Peterson said after the meeting that his original refusal to second the motion, which also opens up the possibility of another study, stemmed from the fact he had not yet been able to discuss the matter with his constituents.

He said he has since taken an informal survey of about 250 Beat One residents and has found that about 85 percent of them are against the project, with many of the others stating that they need more information before they can form an opinion.

The board received some public input prior to passing the motion from several members of Senior Citizens of Waveland.

Mary Caillier, who spoke for the group, explained that the organization is concerned about the health risks the ASRM might bring.

"We're all kind of elderly," she explained, "and we're prone to a lot of ailments. We want to know what we can expect."

Exhaust leak blamed in deaths of fishermen

BY D.C. HARVILL
Three elderly men from Hancock County who died on their boat while on an overnight fishing trip Tuesday night succumbed to carbon monoxide poisoning, according to a spokesman for the St. Bernard Parish Sheriff's Department.

A fourth member of the fishing party survived and was treated and released at West Jefferson Medical Center in Marrero.

Dead are Edwood S. "Buddy" Brodtmann, 64, of Bay St. Louis; Claude B. Hogan, 67, of Waveland; and Louis Dehon, age unavailable, of Lakeshore.

The incident occurred in Bay Boudreaux, an expanse of water dotted with marshy islands south of Hancock County.

The victims apparently were poisoned by exhaust fumes from a generator that was running in the boat, according to Peggy Poche, public information officer for the St. Bernard Sheriff's Department.

"It appears there was an exhaust leak," she said.

The owner of the 40-foot sportfishing boat Peggy Dee, 84-year-old Claude Duke of Pass Christian, apparently was unaffected by the gas but, because he has a pacemaker, was taken by helicopter to the hospital for examination.

The three victims were found in their bunks in a below-decks cabin. Duke had been sleeping in an upper cabin, completely separate from the one the others died in, Poche said.

At about 1 p.m. Wednesday, Duke flagged down another fishing vessel, Uncle Joe, who radioed the Coast Guard.

The boat was towed to Shell Beach in St. Bernard Parish.

The group had gone out for one night, according to Tommy Bordages of Bordages Brothers Marina where the boat was kept.

"They had been running the air conditioner earlier, but had turned it off. They left the generator running to keep the batteries up. Everyone went to sleep and that was it," Bordages said, shortly after having talked to Duke.

The group had caught "plenty fish" the afternoon before, Bordages said.

The test will result in decreased air quality from New Orleans to Gulfport, increased medical cost to residents, damage to forests and crops, and potential loss of tourism due to pollution.

"Who wants to take a vacation to a place that is polluted," he said.

NASA cannot predict if the rockets will blow up, Esher said. According to the scientist, if the solid fuel does not burn uniformly over the entire length of the rocket, the unburned fuel could act as a plug (much like a wad of mud in a shotgun barrel) causing the rocket to explode.

A pound of solid rocket fuel is equal to one pound of dynamite and each ASRM will weigh in excess of one million pounds.

"Calculations we made with engineers at the Army Ammunition Plant indicate that an explosion would level their building. It just doesn't make much sense for them to do the test (at Stennis) because if there is an explosion, it could destroy their (NASA's) existing test stand, shutting down their entire program," Esher said.

"Absolutely no reputable scientist supports NASA," he said.

To prevent ASRM testing at Stennis, the group is recommending that people write to their state, federal and local representatives, sign petitions against the tests, discuss the issue with neighbors, ask for public hearings and join Citizens for a Healthy Environment.

Many of those attending signed a petition and a membership list at the door.

"They don't need to do it here. I have enough problems without more. People need to get behind it and put it down quick. I don't think there is any number of jobs worth the environment," said William Mills of Bay St. Louis after the meeting. "Anybody in their right mind ought to be against it," said Brenda Carver, also of Bay St. Louis.

Hancock County Supervisors Wilmer Seymour and Lisa Coward attended the meeting.

"That man (Esher) knows what he is talking about," Seymour said.

Reflections

On Life

By Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

What is truth?

Ever since Pontius Pilate asked his classic question of Jesus, the issue of truth, which had always been on one of the back burners among all peoples, was moved irrevocably to the front burner.

It is highly significant that Jesus gave Pilate no answer. The non-answer of Jesus was indeed a response, as if he meant to say that no one can state what is so very obvious.

Perhaps a more crucial question for most of us is: "Where can we find the truth, and who will give it to us?"

Part of the answer may have come on a late-night radio talk show recently when a caller asked a reporter who was being interviewed how we can be sure to arrive at the truth with so many politicians, merchants and even televangelists lying to us.

"Through a free press!" he responded without hesitation. "There is no other way to cut through dishonesty, prejudice and self-serving management of the available facts. It may take a while, but the free press will eventually arrive at the truth."

Far more than uncommon, this is the only answer you will hear on any kind of program which involves the media. Nor do the talk show hosts, the reporters, the pundits and the commentators let it rest at that.

They exude a united job solidarity, an elite conviction that they are the sole channel of truth, and a virtual disdain for churches and church-related groups and spokespersons who lean on divine authority and the Bible to learn the truth.

To say the least, it is a bummer for anyone closely connected with Christianity to hear the secular media lay claim to the exclusive ability to answer Pilate's question: "What is truth?"

If anything, we would expect the churches, enlightened by the Bible and fortified by the peerless wisdom and integrity of Jesus Christ, to have a corner on the truth in most things. After all, it was the Man himself who assured us:

"I am the way, and the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father but through me" (John 14:6).

Apparently, it is of no interest or concern to the media people that Jesus lays exclusive claim to being the source of truth and the only means to it. For all practical purposes, Jesus is an abstraction to them which has little or no bearing on the stories which they and the other newshounds eat, drink, breathe and live.

It would appear that our pursuit of the truth has run into a hopeless deadlock here, with an immovable object being assailed by an irresistible force.

Both Jesus and the secular media state unconditionally that they are the ultimate and the only when it comes to smoking out, identifying and publishing the truth.

On the one hand, anyone would be very rash to doubt the credentials of Jesus, who needs no introduction and no apologies. On the other, the track record of the free secular press, for all its frequent foolishness and blunders, is undeniably excellent when it comes to uncovering and publishing the truth.

Upon closer scrutiny, it becomes obvious that the two sources of truth are not adversary to each other, but complementary to one another. It is similar to the religion versus science controversy which must be resolved in the same complementary vein.

The only thing which rubs us the wrong way is the sometimes cavalier attitude of the secular media which disdains religion while boasting of their mortal lock on the truth.

By the same token, religious groups are to blame at times for being too ethereal and not using the resources of the media to spread the Good News.

EDITORIAL

Your candidate needs your vote on Tuesday

The qualified electors of the Fifth Congressional District will elect the candidate of their choice in Tuesday's run-off election.

This election to fill the unexpired term of the late Congressman Larkin Smith needs every voter to be sure and go the polls on Tuesday.

There was a good turnout in the special election held two weeks ago when three candidates were vying for the vacant Congressional position. The selection on Tuesday is between two candidates who will represent the Fifth Congressional District for the balance of this and next year.

This special election has drawn a lot of concern by the people of the district and this is very good.

It is important for each voter to weigh the qualifications of the candidates and then vote for the candidate whom they think will be the best representative for South Mississippi in Washington.

Remind your relatives and friends to be sure to vote on Tuesday.

The polls are open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Every time I see youngsters riding in the back of a pickup truck, I shudder to think what would happen if the vehicle should be in an accident.

A recent accident in the county in which an adult was thrown from the back of a pickup, into the path of another vehicle, and another which left a teenager in stable condition after being thrown from a pickup, emphasizes the need for having some new laws on the books.

Just about every time I travel on Highway 90, I see people riding in the backs of pickup trucks.

In recent years, seat belt laws have been passed by our legislators for passengers inside automobiles, but what about persons riding in the backs of pickups?

Do not get me wrong, I am not anti-pickup trucks because I realize the important role they play in our society today.

I am just thinking about people, especially children, being vulnerable in the back of a pickup truck involved in an accident.

I wonder when someone will do something about the serious matter.

We are already into the second half of the month of October which means there are only two and one-half months left in this year.

Before we know it, Thanksgiving will be here—followed by Christmas and the New Year.

I can remember the years when I was a student and time just seemed to drag—especially when we were waiting for holidays.

I can also recall counting the days when my three years of military would be over.

It seems the older we get, the faster time goes by.

Parents will soon have to begin to think about Christmas and the presents their youngsters will be expecting under the tree.

Once time has passed, one thing is for sure, we do nothing about yesterday. We do have the opportunity of doing something about today and tomorrow.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Careless driving means heartbreak for many

Dear Editor,

Just a week ago, as you know, a man was thrown from the bed of a pickup truck and was killed on Hwy. 603. A few days before this, a child was thrown from a truck as the door flew open. No seat belt.

How many times I've seen people—even little children—riding in the open bed of pickups, I cannot count. I'm appalled! Such a stupid, thoughtless practice! Yet I see such total, careless disregard for traffic laws designed to protect everyone. It's sad!

A week ago, Monday, Oct. 9, on residential Washington Road (north of US-90), our little pet dog managed to locate a hole in the fence and escaped the yard to go across the road and sniff at the curb. I went out and tried to get to the dog so as to capture it and return it to the yard, but here came a pickup truck traveling at a high rate of speed and struck my little pet, killing her instantly. Driver was going so fast, I was helpless to reach the pet.

Our family is still suffering the pain and heartbreak of suddenly losing our precious little pet who loved everyone, was happy and playful and a real favorite of everyone, especially our children who cannot understand our sad and terrible loss because of a careless driver speeding through a residential area.

It could easily have been a little child who got out of the yard and played in the road that these drivers ignore. I'm sure this truck driver could see that I was trying to capture the little dog and remove it from the road.

I've been driving cars, trucks, etc. for more than 53 years and have never, to this date, killed or hurt a little animal, even though I've had a great many close calls.

I've never yet received a traffic ticket because I drive always at the posted legal speed. This same applies to most others in my family. I can't see any excuse for those drivers who run down little animals, many children's loved pets, which causes such sadness and heartbreak. I've even noted that some heartless, cowardly drivers indulge in a "sport" of running down animals. Why?

Sincerely,
Paul D. Gilbert

Mississippi leads way in planting three seedlings

Dear Editor,

Good news! County forester Mark Jamieson should be recognized and thanked for the role he played in making Mississippi the national leader in tree farms.

Rarely does our beautiful state get toward the head of the list in achievements and accomplishments.

Mark reports: "Last year more than 61 million tree seedlings were planted in Missis-sipi. That means 24 trees for every man, woman and child within the state."

Yes indeed, Mississippi is planning for a future generation. Meanwhile we are enjoying the beauty of fall foliage on trees planted for our enjoyment by unnamed people who gave us this valuable and treasured legacy.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi
Economic Council

Tourism often overlooked by many in Mississippi

Adams County bike shop owner David Soper this past July successfully put on a staged bike race in Natchez that drew 400 participants from 13 states.

In a staged bike race, the winner is the entrant with the lowest cumulative time in a series of races.

The three-day event was more than successful, with bikers saying it was one of the best "first time" races in which they had participated. Sponsors for next year's race are already lining up, and many of the cyclists say they are planning to return.

What Mr. Soper has created, in essence, is a good time for a lot of people and has added another way to draw visitors to a town that realizes the potential of the tourist dollar.

There are several communities in Mississippi that could sponsor events with a little time and creativity, and should do so. Who would have thought national news organizations would travel to Raleigh, Miss. to report on the length men and women could, of all things, spit tobacco.

Tourism is one means of economic development that is fun but is often overlooked. More communities should try it.

Noriega must go

What happened in Panama recently is disturbing for several reasons.

First, Panamanian ruler Manuel Noriega is still in power. A coup attempt by middle-level officers of Noriega's own defense forces failed. Noriega was captured by elements of the Panamanian Defense Force, but later escaped.

Second, and perhaps more importantly, it appears the United States missed an opportunity to aid the opposition troops and solidify Noriega's ouster.

Most disheartening are reports that President Bush was never even presented with the option to seize the Panamanian dictator. While it was a hectic time, and there were conflicting intelligence reports, we should have been better prepared to move quickly.

Several days after the coup attempt, we learned that forces of the U.S. Southern Command, in place only several hundred yards away, could have captured Noriega with or without the consent of the leaders of the attempted coup. But high-level officials in the Bush Administration, including the President himself, did not have this information until it was too late. Why?

Years ago, Congress in its infinite wisdom disarmed the Central Intelligence Agency. Just last year, Congress put additional limits on C.I.A. activity in Panama. During the coup attempt, we were relying on a call from the wife of a major to find out what was happening there. With due respect to the major's wife, there has to be a better way. Congress should wise up and restore the resources to the C.I.A. so that it can do its job.

Getting Noriega won't be easy.

In Grenada, for example, neighboring countries asked for our assistance. In Panama, the circumstances are quite different. While the U.S. recognizes President Eric Arturo Delvalle Henriquez, who was deposed in February 1988, there is little doubt about who is running that country. It is the military headed by Noriega.

The U.S. does have interests to protect in Panama. Beyond freedom and democracy which we would like to restore and preserve, there is the Panama Canal.

In 1978, the U.S. Senate ratified the Panama Canal Treaty, which states that the U.S. will operate the Canal until the year 2000, at which time Panama would assume full control. I opposed the Treaty in 1978 because I feared a scenario like the one we now face. Additional language guarantees that the Canal will remain neutral, but with Noriega at the helm, we have no guarantees.

The Canal is the military and economic jugular of that hemisphere. A clot there could cause seizures throughout the world. If we're going to protect our interests in Panama, Noriega will have to be removed and replaced with democracy.

But what worries me is our policy in Panama or lack of one. We are encouraging coups, overthrows and revolutions, but we are doing so without the apparent will to back up that encouragement with military force.

If we're going to be barking and growling loudly, we better be prepared to bite.

Even state agencies have to go by the bottom line

Doing more with less is something that most people understand.

And the point is driven home when you sit down to do the family budget. Once you see the bottom line, you know that you can't afford to buy something that you want until you've paid for what you need. Your paycheck is not a bottomless pit, and to act like it were would be reckless.

There is not one bit of difference between the family budget and the state budget. Just as families have to hold the line on expenses, state agencies sometimes need to hold the line on spending while still delivering the services citizens demand and deserve.

We are working hard right now to apply the same common sense toward the state budget that you do toward the family budget.

This year, the Legislature approved a bill that pares down the size of state government. These streamlined state departments are setting priorities as they prepare their budgets for next year. They also are justifying every proposed expenditure—program by program, dollar by dollar. No agency can or should expect an increased budget every year.

Every budget has a bottom line, and these newly reorganized agencies have proposed a bottom line that should please taxpayers—no budget increase. The goal is to give people all the government they need, but no more than they need.

The only additions to these departments' budgets will be those already required by law! There is a bonus benefit to our newly reorganized state departments. They are planning better and working together better. Each agency is no longer an island.

It used to be that when it came to judging Mississippi's executive branch of government, the verdict was guilty—guilty of a lack of planning, coordination and a free exchange of information.

There were no overall state plans for any state programs. There was no unity. We were lucky to be looking a month down the road much less a year or 10 years into the future.

Today things are changing. Today many of our major agencies, which form the engine of state government, are planning for the future as we near a new, highly competitive century full of promise. Those states that plan and prepare for that new century are the leaders of tomorrow.

We have seized the moment in Mississippi to move forward in a bold way. We are watching our dollars by proposing no-growth budgets; we are focusing our tax dollars where they will do the most good; and we are planning better than ever before. That is a winning combination for Mississippi.

A farewell to a friend killed by a drunken driver

Today in this column, you should be reading a sermon on the dangers of drunken driving. I got a phone call Friday, notifying me that one of my closest friends had died of complications from injuries inflicted upon him by a drunken driver.

I ought to be writing an editorial about keeping people who have been drinking off the roads. I always hope when I do, I can keep somebody else from being killed.

Bill Burns, the man who died, happened to be in New England where there are strong negligent homicide laws. I've been told the person who was ultimately responsible for his death was caught and will be prosecuted.

I know Bill would want me to do some personal lobbying for stronger laws against drunken driving in Mississippi.

Bill, I promise to do that, but not just yet. Right now, I'd rather talk about you. After all, here I am in a trade where writing about the type of accident that killed you is fairly common, and I haven't even done an obituary on you yet.

My first impulse is to tell everybody who missed knowing you what an important friend you've been to me.

I had no idea when you moved to Rhode Island to take that new job last November that we'd never see each other again. As I told you on the phone, my husband Joe and I expected you down in February for Mardi Gras. We planned to visit you in August after I finish school.

Bill was a friend I met by chance, when, as a new resident of Cedar Point, he attended a local councilman's victory party just to meet people.

We hit it off instantly but I didn't find him again until he got involved with theatrical groups on the coast and started moonlighting at a local restaurant.

Bill was always serving or entertaining. He worked at the Biloxi Veteran's Administration Hospital when he was here, but was such a high-energy person that one job was never enough. So, he moonlighted as a bartender or waiter in various places.

He had talent in acting, singing and dancing and, upon discovering my interest in theatre, took me to every production he performed in, assisted with or just wanted to see. I never paid for a ticket and I always got to go along to the cast party, where Bill introduced me to the most interesting people.

The home he shared with Garry was a regular stopping place for me on my way home from school at night. It didn't matter what time I dropped in; they were always happy to see me.

And, except on rare occasions when he was worried about something, Bill was always cheerful. He was so cheerful that when I called him at 2 a.m. once and apologized for the inconvenience, he told me, "It's all right, because I'll talk to you any time."

Bill was a good sounding board for an idea or a problem and was always helping his friends. He helped when Joe and I moved from an apartment to a house and gave us everything of value he couldn't take when he and Garry moved, including his favorite cat.

Bill and Garry were among the first friends I told when Joe and I decided to get married. Unlike some others who wrote me off, saying, "Well, if she's married she'll have no time to see us," they opened their door to Joe just as they had opened it to me.

Opening doors was a habit of Bill's. He had been involved as a volunteer working with AIDS patients here, and when he moved to Rhode Island, he helped found Aquidneck Island AIDS Council to make certain people had help up there, too.

There won't be a funeral for Bill. His family will have a private memorial service for him on Monday and his co-workers at the hospital in Newport will also have one.

His friends have decided that the best tribute to Bill will be donations to the Aquidneck Island AIDS Council (P.O. Box 297, Newport, RI 02840) or Mothers Against Drunk Driving.

Bill was the sort of person who wouldn't be as concerned about those who had already died as he would be about those who were still living.

Bill, I wish you were still living. Bon voyage to the hereafter.

Hancock maintains undefeated record

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock North Central Hawks kept a season-long winning streak alive on Friday by defeating the Long Beach Bearcats 35-7.

Long Beach, which relies on passing, appeared handicapped by damp playing conditions, while the Hawks had to contend with penalties and injured players.

The Hawks opened the scoring in the first quarter when Heath Ncaise recovered a blocked Bearcat punt. On the next play, Terrence Goff ran in 25 yards for the first touchdown.

A PAT kick by Jose Santos gave Hancock a 7-0 lead with 3:02 left in the first quarter.

Long Beach, unsuccessful on the next series, punted back to the Hawks, who soon fumbled the wet ball. The Bearcats scooped it up and scored with a pitch-and-catch from quarterback Bernie Parker to Billy Fane to Jason McCormick. Nate Powell added a PAT kick to tie the score with 30 seconds left in the first period.

The Hawks broke the tie in the third with a 30-yard touchdown pass-run combination from quarterback Casey Davis to Goff. Santos booted the ball again for a PAT, raising the score to 14-7.

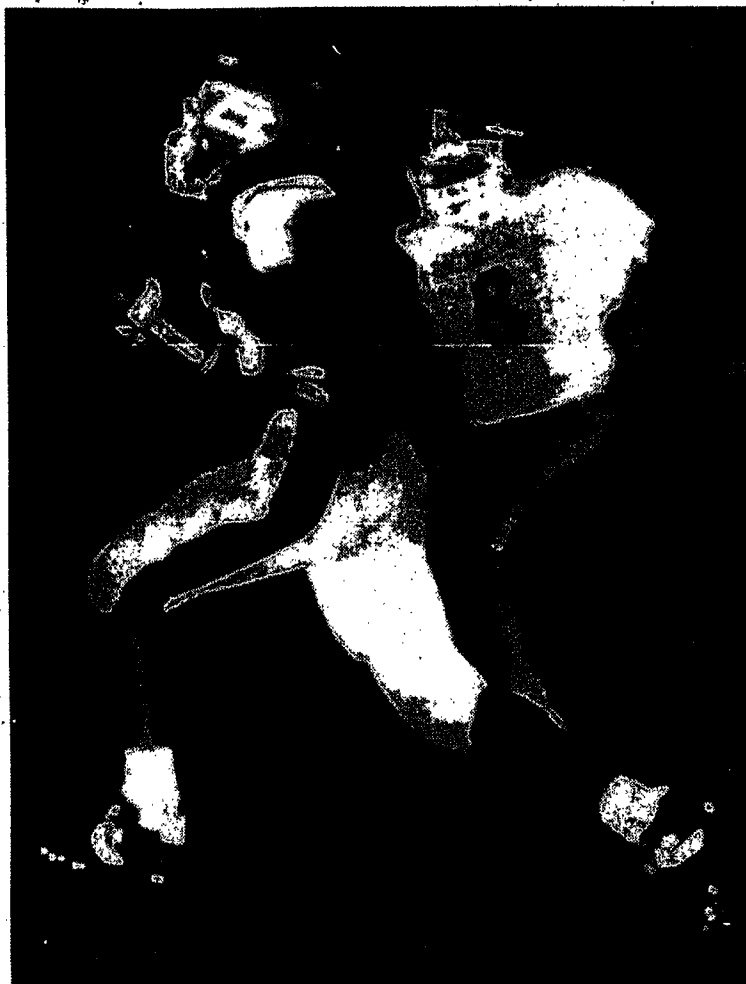

After Goff had to be removed from the game due to leg problems, Jeron Vince took over the scoring duties for the Hawks, starting with an 11-yard touchdown run. Santos' extra point posted a half-time lead of 21-7 for Hancock North Central.

After a couple of turnovers including one on the Long Beach 37 resulting from a Hawk fumble, Vince received the punt on the Hancock 23 to begin a long drive.

That drive culminated in a 77-yard touchdown run for Vince on a second down play, boosting Hancock's lead to 27-7. Santos added a kick for good measure to bring the score to 28-7 with 2:09 left in the third quarter.

Long Beach attempted to shift tactics in the fourth quarter, trying unsuccessfully to run for a couple of series. After reverting to the passing game, the Bearcats got a surprise when Hancock's Bobby Doyle snatched a Parker pass out of the sky, spoiling a Bearcat drive by giving the Hawks a first and 10 on their own 34.

After a few carries by Clifton Carter and Tyrus Jackson drove the Hawks deep into Long Beach territory, Davis ran a nine-yard keeper to score the night's final touchdown.

Santos' PAT posted a final score of 35-7 with 5:20 to go in the game.

With the clock ticking off the final seconds, Hancock was able to drive to a third and goal on the Long Beach four, but were unable to score before time ran out.

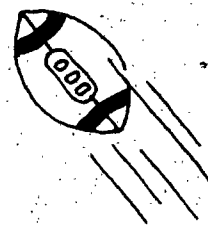

Head Coach Irvin Favre said, "Having penalties all night was the biggest letdown of all. But, we played good offense and our defense gave us a good blocking game. I thought we did quite well."

The undefeated Hawks, ranked eighth last week with a 4-0 district record and the title sewn up, will travel to Wayne County Friday.

"It's a pick-up game," explained Favre. "We were supposed to have an open date in this schedule."

"We don't really know what to expect because we've never played this team before."

Rocks paving road to post-season games

Special to the Echo

By Tom Ackerman

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws came one step closer Friday night to their post-season goal of reaching the Division VIII 4-A playoffs, downing the St. Martin Yellowjackets 16-12. The win raised St. Stanislaus' season record to 5-2 overall and 2-1 in division, while St. Martin dropped to 5-2 overall, 1-2 in the division.

For the Rocks, the contest was a "must win," according to SSC head football coach Ken Lyons.

And the Rocks met the challenge with an outstanding team effort and special performances logged by wide receiver Galen Smith and linebacker Gary Ponthieux, both of whom put the Rocks on the scoreboard.

Trailing 12-2 through the first half, the two points coming on a safety by the Jackets, Ponthieux scored from the one on the Rocks' first possession of the second half. And late in the fourth period, Galen Smith connected on a long pass from quarterback Cedric Smith, catching the ball in the endzone after it had been tipped by a Yellowjacket defender.

Smith-to Smith reprised their roles and added the two-point conversion.

Adding to the offensive effort for the Rock-A-Chaws, Ken Booker added 48 yards on eight carries.

On the defensive side, the Rocks knew they had to be at their best. The key play of the game came with only five seconds left on the clock. On second down of their possession, the Jackets opted for a pass from 15 yards out. Before St. Martin quarterback Randy Mills could find his receiver, he was downed by Kerry Wittmann and David Alexander, giving the Rocks the win as time ran out.

The Rock-A-Chaws opened the game with Galen Smith receiving and carrying to the SSC 49. Starting an offensive drive, Rock quarterback Cedric Smith found receiver Shannon Garrett open, and Garrett carried to the 15 for a first down.

Runner Ken Booker and Smith carried to move the ball to the two, picking up two more firsts. But the drive ended on fourth down of the final series with a fumble that moved the ball back to the 15 where the Yellowjackets took over.

The Jackets were unable to move the ball, and on fourth down the Rock defense blocked the punt forcing the safety that gave SSC their first two points of the game.

St. Martin scored early in the second period on a one-yard run by David Fayard with the Jacket drive spurred by runs by Demetrius Mosley. The conversion attempt failed, and the Yellowjackets took the lead.

With 2:18 left in the first half, the Jackets scored once more on a keeper by quarterback Randy Mills. The two-point attempt failed.

Facing momentum problems compounded by numerous penalty calls, the Rocks took the field for the second half with renewed drive.

Holding the Jackets to four plays, the Rock-A-Chaws took possession at midfield.

On two keepers, quarterback Smith moved the ball to the 39 for a first. From there, on the next down, Smith connected with receiver Galen Smith at the 15 who then carried to the four.

On first down, Shannon Garrett moved the ball to the 4, and Gary Ponthieux took it from there for the score, 12-8; Rocks down by 4.

The try for two after failed. Taking possession early in the final period of play after the Jackets attempted a punt fake, the Rocks took over at their own 36.

On two runs, Ponthieux moved the ball to the St. Martin 45 to pick up a first down. On second down of the series, the Rocks were moved way back on a clipping call, back to their own 42.

With 18 yards to go for a first, the "Smith-to-Smith" connection moved the ball to the Jacket 38 for a first.

Ponthieux carried up the middle to the 30, and Booker broke loose on the second down scurrying to the 11.

On second down, the "Smith-to-Smith" connection was good for another score, 14-12, and another pass from Smith to Smith gained the extra two points for the 16-12 final.

Next week, the Rocks travel to d'Iberville to face the Warriors in their final regular-season district game. A win would assure SSC of second place in the division and a play-off berth against the Hancock North Central Hawks.

Freshman Rocks pick up first win

The St. Stanislaus ninth grade Rock-A-Chaws traveled to Biloxi last week and brought home their first win of the season, 34-14 against the Mercy Cross Crusaders.

Taking the opening kick-off for the Freshman Rocks, Bryce Gex returned the ball for a 65-yard run that gave SSC the momentum.

Holding the Crusaders scoreless through the first half, the Rocks picked up 28 points on four TD's and kick conversions.

Kirk Edrington scored three touchdowns for the Rock-A-Chaws, two short runs, and one 91-yard break-away dash in the second quarter.

Also scoring for the Freshman Rocks, Adam Zimmerman connected on a Bryce Gex pass for a 19-yard play; and Brandon Benoit scored on a 55-yard run.

"Kirk Edrington's 91-yard run in the second quarter really broke it open for us," said Rock ninth grade coach Chuck Genin.

The Junior Rocks forced two turnovers in the first half to keep their momentum going. One came when the Crusaders were trying to get a drive going, and the second came late in the first half when Adam Zimmerman intercepted a Crusader pass to set up a Rock score.

"We finally got it all together," Genin said after the game. "We had no turnovers, few penalties, and great team hustle. The kids have come close in the last couple of games, and I think they knew we could win."

Next up, the Freshman Rock-A-Chaws host the d'Iberville Warriors at St. Stanislaus Stadium on Oct. 26.

"We will have to play like we did against Mercy Cross, and even better, to win," Genin said, looking ahead to the game. "d'Iberville leads our conference and they are a solid team."

THUMP—Rock-A-Chaw fullback David Alexander (44) stops Yellowjacket carrier Demetrius Mosley (25) in his tracks. St. Stanislaus won the game Friday 16-12 to take second place in the division. (Tom Ackerman photo)

Business association offers to beautify middle school

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School Board has approved a plan by Bay Business Association to beautify the grounds of Bay Middle School.

Jim Thompson, association president, said the project will be financed by the organization's next three installments in its "Concert in the Park" series. The next one is Oct. 21.

"We wanted a program that would enhance the architecture of the building but at the same time be something that could be ongoing," he told the board.

The group plans to plant a row of crepe myrtle bushes along the fence facing Second Street and to add two concrete guideposts designed to complement the school's architecture.

Much of the labor will be donated, although the school will be asked to provide water for the plants and some electricity while the work is being done.

The plants have been chosen so that the project will require a small amount of maintenance.

Forest and forest products week proclaimed by Mabus

Mississippi is joining other states nationwide in annual observance of Forest Products Week Oct. 15-21.

Governor Ray Mabus has issued a proclamation calling on citizens to become more aware of the important role that forests and forest products play in their daily lives and in the economic life of the state as well.

Mississippi has 17 million acres of commercial forest land which produced $611 million in value at the first processing point last year—second only to cotton.

Sixty-six percent of the state's timberland is owned by private, non-industrial landowners who received $340 million in timber income in 1988 alone.

Seventy-eight Mississippi counties have forest industries providing jobs and a market for forest products. Weekly wages paid to workers in the paper and allied products industry were higher than for any other manufacturing industry in the state.

One in every eight dollars in Mississippi's manufacturing economy was generated from the state's lumber and paper products industries in 1985. A rapidly expanding furniture industry (plants now in at least 46 counties) has made that contribution even greater in recent years, according to State Forester Robert S. "Sid" Moss.

In addition to raw wood products from our forests, more than $400 million is generated annually in Mississippi's economy by hunting, fishing and camping.

A recent Southern Timber Study showed that Mississippi will continue to play a prominent role in supplying the nation's need for wood products well into the 21st Century. Foreign markets are also beginning to show a healthy interest in Mississippi's timber products.

Let's hear it for Mississippi's forest and forest industries!

Clermont, Lakeshore to have fire district

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors has been asked to create a fire protection district for the Clermont Harbor-Lakeshore area.

Peter LeStelle presented a petition signed by 59 residents of the area to the board on Friday.

A legal advertisement and a public hearing must be conducted before the new district, which will be served by the Clermont Harbor Volunteer Fire Department, will be official.

Fire protection districts, once approved, can qualify for a special tax levy of up to four mills. State Law requires that those funds be spent on fire protection.

In other business on Friday, the board:

—Took bids on several items, including an automated library system for the Hancock County Library System, a new roof on the Civil Defense building, overlay of part of Beach Road and sale of two acres of surplus property;

—Turned a proposal for an agreement with South Mississippi Planning and Development District over to its attorney for review, with the agreement being for the drafting of a proposed planning and zoning ordinance and related services;

—Formalized issue of $1.2 million in general obligation bonds for a multi-purpose building at the Hancock County Civic Center site and improvement of the access road;

—Agreed to issue Industrial development bonds for location of a new business, By-Products Management, at Port Bienville Industrial Park;

—Accepted resignation of Sandra Garber as county veterans' service officer; and —Set the next meeting for Oct. 24.

DIAMONDHEAD FIRE DEPARTMENT Captains Allen Spence and Brian Adams have recently completed Fire-fighter's No. 3 training at the State Fire Academy in Jackson. Their department is seeing volunteers and anyone interested may contact Chief Dennis Westbrook at 255-1314.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

From steak to stew, to the ever-versatile "burger," supermarkets offer budget-wise buys just now.

If you choose a round steak from Delchamps, you can turn out a tasty steak dinner. Top beef round steak, made more tender with lemon, and sliced across the grain after broiling, is delicious! Here's:

LEMON-PEPPER STEAK
1 beef top round steak, 1½ inches thick (two pounds, approx.)

3 medium-sized carrots
2 medium zucchini (10 oz. or so each)

1 Tbsp. grated lemon peel
2 tsp. cracked black pepper
1 garlic clove, minced
Butter or margarine
Salt

Parsley sprigs for garnish
1. Approximately an hour before serving, cut each carrot and zucchini crosswise in half; cut each half lengthwise into thin slices, then cut slices into matchstick-thin strips, and set aside.

2. Preheat broiler. In a small bowl, mix lemon peel, pepper, garlic, two tablespoons butter or margarine (one-fourth stick) softened, and 1½ tsp. salt, and set aside.

3. Place beef top round steak on rack in broiling pan. Spread half of the lemon-pepper butter over top of steak. Place pan in broiler at closest position to source of heat; broil steak 8 minutes. Turn steak; spread with remaining lemon-pepper butter; broil 8 minutes or so longer for rare, or until of desired doneness.

4. While steak is broiling, in a 4-quart saucepan over medium heat, melt four tablespoons butter or margarine (one-half stick) and add carrots; cook five minutes. Add zucchini and one-fourth tsp. salt; cook five minutes longer or until vegetables are tender, stirring frequently.

5. To serve, place steak on cutting board; slice steak across the grain into thin slices. Garnish with parsley sprigs. Serve steak with vegetables. (8 servings)

—From Good Housekeeping magazine's "All-Time Favorite Recipes"

If you choose some of the boneless beef stew meat on sale at Jitney Jungle, you may want to make:

EASY BEEF STEW
2 lb. boneless stew, in 1-inch cubes

1 bay leaf
1 tsp. sugar
1/4 tsp. pepper
4 cups cold water
2 or 3 small onions (optional)
1 onion, sliced
1 clove garlic
1 Tbsp. salt
1 tsp. paprika
2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
3 to 6 carrots, as desired, sliced in 2-inch strips
6 small potatoes

In large pot or Dutch oven, brown meat well on all sides in a scant bit of oil, adding bay leaf, onion, garlic and other seasonings while the meat is browning. Add the water, cover the pan and simmer for 1½ hours, stirring occasionally. Remove bay leaf and garlic and discard.

Add carrots, potatoes and whole onions, and cook at a little higher temperature for 30 to 45 minutes longer, then thicken with a flour and cold water mixture.

—From Pots and Pans and Pioneers II cookbook

Take advantage of the lean ground beef extra-special at Delchamps and Jitney Jungle, and stock up. And, while you're about it, mix up this:

ITALIAN MACARONI PIE
1 lb. ground beef
7 oz. pkg. elbow macaroni
1/4 cup sliced celery
1 jar (15½ oz.) prepared spaghetti sauce
1 small can mushrooms,

drained
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1/2 cup grated Parmesan cheese
1/2 tsp. garlic salt

Additional grated Parmesan cheese

Heat oven to 350 degrees. Grease 10-inch pie pan or 9-inch square pan. Cook and drain macaroni.

In a large skillet, brown ground beef with celery. Drain. Stir in spaghetti sauce and mushrooms, and simmer 15 minutes. In large bowl, combine cooked macaroni, eggs, 1/4 cup parmesan cheese and garlic salt, and toss lightly.

Place macaroni in prepared pan, and press evenly in bottom and sides of pan, forming a crust.

Pour the meat mixture over the macaroni, cover with foil and bake for 25 to 30 minutes. Remove foil, and let stand five minutes before cutting. Sprinkle with parmesan. (Six servings)

It's Louisiana Yam Time at National, so be sure to take advantage of the special. What is better than a baked yam, all sweet orangy-fleshed and syrupy delicious down to the last bite of the skin? Or sliced cold boiled "sweets" sautéed in a little butter till crusty black on the bottom? Or—there are so many ways, and here's one:

MATCHSTICK YAMS
2 large yams, peeled and cut into one-fourth-inch by three-inch julienne.

Vegetable oil, for deep frying

Salt
Heat oil in deep fryer to 375 degrees. Fry yams (in batches) until golden brown, just a bare minute. Drain well on paper towels, season with salt and serve. Addictive, no less!

And, on the other side of the potato bin, 10-pound bags of new crop Russett potatoes are a special buy at Winn-Dixie, so snap up a bag—for all sorts of additions to your fall menus.

For a quick, quick, meal "fry up" a skilletful of sliced potatoes, along with sliced onions (from a three-pound bag of yellow onions, also on special at Winn-Dixie, and Jitney Jungle, and when they're a nice brownish, pour a bit of water over, season, clamp the lid on the pan, and "smother" the whole business down a bit.

With the green cabbage on extra-special at National, you can stir up days of meal variations—from the ever-present coleslaw, hot or cold, to all sorts of dishes. For instance:

SWEET-SOUR COUNTRY CABBAGE

1 medium head cabbage, shredded
2 medium apples, cored, peeled and finely chopped
1 small onion, finely chopped
1½ Tbsp. shortening
1/2 cup water
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar

1/2 cup vinegar
Salt, pepper to taste
1 Tbsp. melted butter or margarine

Cook the apple and onion in hot shortening over low heat for 10 minutes, then add the cabbage and water, and cook for 10 to 15 minutes. Dissolve the sugar in vinegar, and add to the cabbage. Simmer 10 or 15 minutes or until cabbage is tender. Add salt, pepper and butter, and stir gently. (Four servings)

Or, simply cook:

CABBAGE WEDGES WITH BUTTER

1 medium head cabbage
1 tsp. salt
1/4 cup melted butter or margarine

Pepper to taste
Remove outer leaves from cabbage, wash cabbage and cut into eight wedges. Add water to a large skillet to a depth of less than half an inch, bring to boil, add cabbage wedges and salt, and simmer, uncovered, several minutes, or until tender. Pour off any remaining water, turn to low heat until moisture has evaporated. Add butter, coating thoroughly, sprinkle pepper. (Eight servings)

Help may be only a phone call away with Hancock Library's new directory

BY JANET MCQUEEN

A new mini-telephone directory is available at the Hancock County Library with phone numbers of a multitude of agencies and organizations providing public services.

The brochure is the culmination of a team effort by employees of the library system, under the guidance of Prima Wusnack, library director.

The idea for the publication and cover design are credited to former Hancock County Adult Literacy Education coordinator, Helene Roth. While in that capacity, Roth wrote for and received a grant to obtain funds to compile a service directory for primary use by literacy students.

According to Wusnack, the students often are not only hampered by lack of reading skills, but need additional help in contacting other support groups. The brochure would aid literacy volunteers in directing these persons to the proper source of assistance.

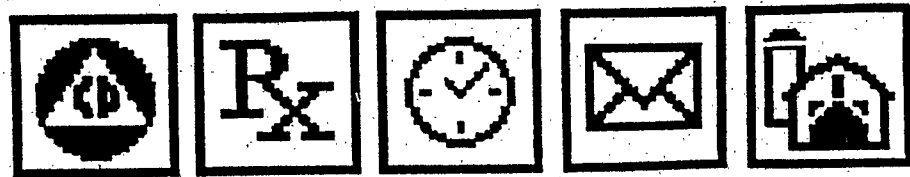

800-numbers in the library's directory were taken from the books.

The 'Hancock County Information and Community Service Telephone Guide' will be available at all library branches next week.

HANCOCK COUNTY INFORMATION AND COMMUNITY SERVICE TELEPHONE GUIDE

Monies were secured through a Library Services and Construction Act Grant for the literacy program, and the well-researched list of frequently sought numbers became a reality.

Lee Olivier, former library assistant to the literacy program, contacted several agencies to compile a list, which was verified by library staffers Linda McKay, Adrienne Redmond and Norma Fucich. Reference librarian Mary Lee Weston contributed listings to the 800-number list.

"Over the months we worked on the list, we constantly updated and deleted agency numbers—the final version was accurate the day we took it to the press," said Wusnack. "We regret some agencies had to be left out, but we tried to provide a list that would be the most useful to the public."

Wusnack said library personnel spend a lot of time assisting persons with referrals and directing them to agencies. She recommends a much-used resource, Encyclopedia of Associations, a three-volume set of books detailing names, addresses and phone numbers of thousands of agencies and organizations. Many of the

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

VFW Auxiliary Post 3253

Members of VFW Post 3253 and Ladies Auxiliary hosted a luncheon for 43 veterans from the Gulfport VA Hospital and six veterans from the Hotel Reed Nursing Center on Thursday, October 5.

The veterans from the Hotel Reed Nursing Center were accompanied by Beth Gruzinskas, director of activity and Mrs. Gersendefer, director of nursing.

It is with thanks and appreciation to the American Legion Post No. 77 for the use of their bus and their members Martin O. Blanchard and John C. LaFontaine for their time and patience in driving the patients to and from Gulfport.

Roland Wohlschlegel, Jesse Burns and Arthur Leineweber were the chefs for the occasion.

Jean Lewis, president of the auxiliary, and Hazel Wohlschlegel, who organized the luncheon, and 10 other auxiliary members were present to help with the serving.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77 in Waveland is participating in the National Kidney Foundation of Mississippi holiday candy sale.

The funds raised will be used for programs of the foundation such as patient services, the organ donor awareness program, research, public health education and patient training and education.

Mississippi has one of the highest rates of kidney disease, per capita, of any state.

The National Kidney Foundation of Mississippi is working very hard to change this fact. The foundation receives no United Way or government funds.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The regular monthly meeting of the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 was held Monday, Oct. 9 at the Legion home.

Margaret Prevou, president, opened the meeting and the color bearers, Hazel Wohlschlegel and Evelyn Burns, advanced the colors. Acting chaplain Roslyn Weathers read the opening prayers which were followed by the Pledge of Allegiance and the Preamble.

The roll call of officers was taken by acting secretary Lou Wilkerson. A motion was made to dispense with the reading of the previous meeting. Bobbye Tomlinson, treasurer, gave her report on the financial status of the auxiliary.

Mrs. Prevou introduced the honored guests, State President Barbara Perkins and Ninth District President Bessie Ladner. They in turn told the members how they were happy to be with the unit, and how pleased they were on the auxiliary's progress in the attempt to reach the membership goal.

They also mentioned that the Southern Area Conference will be held in Biloxi on Oct. 28 and 29 and that they would like to see as many members as possible attend this session.

Plans were made for the annual Halloween party and the x-raying of the "trick or treat" candies at the Hancock Medical Center. We have another successful year without any problems. The time will be from 6:30 until 9:30 p.m. on Tuesday, Oct. 31.

"Ladies, we are appealing to your generosity in turning in your two gifts at the earliest time for the Christmas gift shop," said Roslyn Weathers, publicity chairman. "Mrs. Lucille Boudreaux will be very happy to collect them from you. She also requests volunteers to help at that time at the hospital for wrapping the veterans' selections."

The color bearers were asked to retire the colors, the chaplain read the closing prayers, and Mrs. Prevou adjourned the meeting.

The hostesses invited all to partake of the refreshments.

The regular monthly ice cream and cake party hosted by the auxiliary was held Tuesday, Sept. 19 at the Veterans Hospital in Gulfport for the veterans in Wards G 41 and 42.

The volunteers who participated in this activity were Lucille Boudreaux, Hazel Breland and Genevieve Cole.

The veterans enjoy these treats and look forward to the visits every month.

SENIOR CITIZENS HAPPENINGS

VOTE!

Be sure to vote Tuesday for the candidate of your choice. If you don't vote, don't complain about politics in Washington. We are the people who send them to Congress by either voting for whom we consider best, or by not voting and letting someone make the choice for us. You have good judgment—vote!

HALLOWEEN PARTY

Get your costumes ready for a blow-out at the center Friday, Oct. 27 from noon to 2 p.m. We will have prizes, refreshments and fun. Arlene Johnson is in charge of organizing this event, so you know it will be great.

NEW BUS

We should be getting a new bus this month. The bus will be for special trips and local activities. You can be sure Arlene will be planning more fun things to do as she is now our program specialist (big title, small pay!)

FOOT DOCTOR

Dr. LYnch will be at the center on the morning of the 27th. If you need to have your feet examined, call Rosine at 467-9292. She will put your name on a list and give you an estimated time for treatment.

REAL COORDINATION!

The new push by federal agencies is for agencies to coordinate services. Well, here at the center we really have done this in a big way with our 'Hug-A-Bear' class.

The Telephone Pioneers provide the material for the bears.

The Senior Aide Program provides the center with the teacher.

RSVP volunteers and class members make the bears.

Bears are donated to the police department.

Police donate bears to local children with whom they come in contact in distressing situations.

Diamondhead Academy

By Lois Abrams

The craft fair is over! It was a huge success thanks to all the workers and purchasers of Diamondhead. Now, we're on to Halloween—spooks, goblins, ghosts and supermen will be ringing door bells before too many days. Please turn your outside light on if you have some goodies for our little ones.

Diamondhead Academy's third through sixth graders visited the Sun Herald and got a VIP tour of how the Coast paper is made up and delivered daily. All students at the Academy are reading the Sea Coast Echo and the Sun Herald as part of the curriculum each week.

The PTO's new project sounds very exciting. It is called "Gourmet-to-Go for the Holidays." One may order and receive those wonderful frozen dishes that will make holiday meals extra, extra special this year. To order, pick up a form and envelope at the following businesses: Country Carousel, LL LTD, Diamondhead Supermarket, Hancock Bank, Southern Charm, The Princess Dress Shoppe and Ellen Kane Gift Shop. Do so by Nov. 1 and return promptly as delivery will be Nov. 18.

Get out of the kitchen for holiday meals, and entertain by ordering a selection of "Gourmet-to-Go for the Holidays" meals. For further information call Leona Smith at 255-7743, Donna James, 255-3540 or the Academy at 255-1784.

Excitement is building for a visit by Mr. Smithers from the State Accreditation Board for Private Schools.

American Legion Region IV

The annual National Regional Workshop for American Legion Region IV was held in Oklahoma City, Okla. Sept. 29 and 30 and Oct. 1. Department President Barbara Perkins and Commander Richard Clements were among 12 auxiliary members and 15 legionnaires who attended.

The workshop opened Friday evening with the showing of a film about the American flag and our need for a constitutional amendment to protect it.

National vice-president of the auxiliary, Ruby Paul, addressed the gathering, and the staff members who gave the workshop were introduced. Among them were Mississippians Jeanette Ghatti, national leadership chairman; Gladys Bassett, national field service chairman, and Leo Von Pingle of the Legion staff.

Seminars were held to discuss and explain various phases of the following programs: Americanism, auxiliary programs/motivation, children and youth, membership, public relations and VA and R.

Mississippi's American Legion and Auxiliary members were in attendance at all the meetings.

During the day on Saturday, National Commander Miles Eppling of West Virginia, flew in and attended each meeting to bring greetings from the national organization. He asked that we continue to ask our congressmen for a constitutional amendment.

"Things look good in the Senate, but we need to turn our efforts toward the House of Representatives," he said. "We do not have enough votes there to protect our flag."

On Saturday night, entertainment was provided by the El Reno Post 34 in El Reno, Okla.

On Sunday morning a memorial service was conducted to remember departed members and loved ones. After the memorial service, the children and youth awards were presented by Terry Woodburn of the national staff.

Mississippi was right on the top in the awards department. The auxiliary won an award of excellence for their work with the children and youth committee. The Sons of the American Legion Department Squadron also won an award of excellence. The largest award given was a plaque for the Mighty Rat. This is awarded to an individual who solicits the most funds for the Child Welfare Foundation.

This year's Mighty Rat Award was presented to Department President Barbara Perkins. She is the top Rat in Region IV. The region is comprised of five states, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Oklahoma and Texas.

For 1990, the Child Welfare Foundation appointed Bob Russo the first Rat for the American Legion in Mississippi. Russo and Perkins will be working to make Mississippi American Legion and Auxiliary No. 1 in 1990.

Attending the regional workshop for our area were Lou Wilkerson of Clement R. Bontemps Unit 139, the Department historian, and Bob Russo of Bourgeois-Stieffel Ray Post 77, a member of the children and youth committee for the Department of Mississippi. Wilkinson also served as sergeant-at-arms for the auxiliary program's portion of the workshop.

'Mississippi Roads' begins seventh season on Miss. ETV

"Mississippi Roads" begins its seventh season on Mississippi ETV Tuesday, Oct. 17 at 7:30 p.m. with stops in Philadelphia, Jackson, Greenwood, Brookhaven, Raleigh, Newton and Tunica.

Mississippi's "giant house party," the Neshoba County Fair, celebrated its 100th anniversary last summer. "Mississippi Roads" talks with Norman A. Johnson of Philadelphia, president of the Neshoba County Fair Association, and Margaret Mason Christenelli, Miss Neshoba County Fair 1933, about the history of the fair. Among the fairgoers "Roads" viewers will meet as they enjoy a day in the life of the fair are Mrs. R. A. Posy and Mrs. W. R. Jackson of Philadelphia, Bullie Burfoot Latting of Marks, Mrs.

Bill Schneller of Senatobia, Norma Dees Laird of Jackson and Marie Daly Maloney of Louisville.

Next, "Roads" travels to Jackson's Smith-Robertson Museum for a look at "Those Who Stayed," the Smithsonian exhibit that features black families who stayed in the South rather than joined the great migration of blacks to the North in the early 1950s. Dr. Jessie Mosley of Jackson explains how those who stayed changed the South, thus making it easier for those who left to return and reap the benefits of those changes. The art of Dr. Alferdeen Harrison of Jackson is also featured in the exhibit.

This season "Mississippi Roads" will feature short, two-minute "Road Trips" to various locations of interest around the state. This week's "Road Trip" is to Florewood River Plantation, an authentic working plantation near Greenwood.

The final segment of "Roads" this week features Mississippi's "Most Majestic Magnolia." Raleigh's Carolyn Haymen and John Henderson are featured with their trees, as are Nancy K. Williams and W. K. Price of Newton. Magnolia trees are also highlighted at the homes of F. F. Becker II of Brookhaven and the late Mrs. John Pritchard of Tunica.

"Mississippi Roads" is underwritten by Chevron U.S.A. Inc. and Tower Loan of Mississippi Inc.

Forests for our future

Every city street in America lined with trees by the year 2000? Campaign promises of "a tree in every yard?"

These notions may appear a little extreme, yet they may one day come true as man begins to pay increasing attention to the way trees (or lack of them) affects the world's climate.

Forests are already closely linked to the popular issues of "greenhouse effect" and "global climate change."

Deforestation in Central South America and in several other key nations are reported to be one of the potential causes of these disturbing trends. But through reforestation, trees will become part of the solution.

Experts on the greenhouse effect say that a buildup of greenhouse gases, such as carbon dioxide and other heat-trapping gases produced by burning of fossil fuels, will increasingly trap heat from the sun's rays in the atmosphere, gradually raising temperatures.

The hypothesis further predicts that an accompanying slow increase in temperature may cause slight melting of the polar ice caps, resulting in such dramatic global changes as rising sea levels and the resulting loss of shoreline and coastal wetlands.

In addition, there may be a northward migration of the Earth's vegetation as once-temperate climates warm, allowing tropical and temperate species to flourish further north.

The greenhouse effect is increased, according to some scientists, by deforestation via the "slash and burn" method—currently being utilized on a widespread basis in the tropical rainforests to convert forest land to agricultural uses. Forest clearing on this scale adds large quantities of carbon dioxide to the atmosphere.

Although few scientists dispute the likelihood that increased concentrations of greenhouse gases will result in rising temperatures, the big question is how much of a rise will occur, and when.

Some have cited evidence of dramatic temperature increases of up to one degree Fahrenheit since the turn of the century. Other scientists report actual decreases in temperature during the same period in rural areas, raising the possibility that temperature increases will be restricted to urban "heat islands."

Some experts theorize that the greenhouse effect can be offset or delayed if more of the atmosphere's carbon dioxide can be consumed or converted.

Forests act as giant carbon dioxide converters and storers. Scientists calculate that for every ton of wood a forest grows, it removes 1.47 tons of carbon dioxide from the atmosphere and replaces it with 1.07 tons of oxygen.

A tree's ability to convert carbon dioxide to oxygen largely depends on that tree's age and health. A young, vibrant forest is a veritable oxygen factory. But as the forest ages, the conversion ratio slows and eventually reverses itself. As older trees begin to die, they release stored carbon dioxide.

Even individual trees can make a potential contribution, particularly in an urban setting. Planting more trees in cities can help reduce the "heat island" effect by producing shade, thus dropping both the temperature and cooling costs.

In Mississippi we have an outstanding reforestation and forest management record.

Our private forest landowners plant an average of about 60 million seedlings per year, covering tens of thousands of acres. These future forests can consume up to one-quarter million tons of carbon dioxide per year.

If other states and countries will practice sound forest management and follow our example of regenerating forests, the Earth's ability to consume carbon dioxide will be tremendously increased.

The large green carbon dioxide sponge provided by those forests could provide short-term relief while scientists continue their efforts to fully understand the interactions between greenhouse gases and global climate change.

If you want to help 'ReLeaf' Mississippi this winter by planting some trees, let me hear from you. I can help.

Tabor-Bourgeois

Tammy Myrna Bourgeois of Waveland became the bride of Brian R. Tabor of Pass Christian in an early afternoon ceremony on Saturday, September 9, at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church in Bay St. Louis. The Reverend C. O. Connell performed the ceremony.

Special music was provided by organist Mrs. Olive McKenna and soloists Conrad Mauffray and Donald Mauffray.

Gift bearers were Mr. and Mrs. Larry Ladner of Waveland, uncle and aunt of the bride. Readings were offered by the bride's cousins, Mrs. Lynell Necaise of Rocky Hill community and Jimmy Ladner Jr. of Waveland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Bourgeois Jr. of Waveland. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Wallace B. Tabor of Pass Christian.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride chose for her wedding an antebellum gown of white bridal satin, fashioned with a fitted bodice featuring a sheer illusion sweetheart neckline and a basque waistline with a large bow attached to the back. The neckline, bodice, bows, skirt and train were hand appliqued with satin organza lace embellished with oval, tear drop, round and long seed pearls, crystal and iridescent sequins.

Soft gathers of satin formed the antebellum skirt and a separate attached train which featured bows with appliques embellished with seed pearls and crystals with the same design as the bodice. Satin bows and appliques fell to an elaborate train, finished with a scalloped border of organza lace and hand beaded with pearls, sequins and crystals.

Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a wreath of stephanotis, lily-of-the-valley, iridescent and pearl sprays with a border of scalloped organza lace.

She carried a cascade of white calla lilies, hand-wrapped peach rose buds, seed pearls, lily-of-the-valley, stephanotis, iridescent sprays and baby's breath trimmed with ribbon.

The bride's sister, Penny Torgeson of Lakeshore, attended as matron of honor.

Other honor attendants were Karen Ruhr of Bay St. Louis and Laverna Dedeaux of Waveland, cousins of the bride; Susie Keel of Pass Christian, sister of the groom, Cathy Carver and Jennifer Tabor, both of Bay St. Louis.

Flower girls were Gretchen Hanson and Karen Keel, niece of the groom, both of Pass Christian.

Joe Dedeaux of Waveland, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

Dr. Michael Keel, brother-in-law of the groom, served as best man.

Groomsmen were Keith Torgeson of Lakeshore, brother-in-law of the bride; David Brockway of Gulfport; Frank Schmidt of Long Beach; James Carter of Biloxi; and Chris Russ of Waveland, cousin of the bride.

Ushers were Larry A. Ladner, uncle of the bride; Jimmy Ladner Jr. of Waveland, cousin of the bride; and Terrell A. Ladner of New Orleans, uncle of the bride.

A reception at the American Legion Hall in Waveland followed the ceremony.

ON ETV

FAMILY GATHERING

"A Family Gathering" is filmmaker Lise Yasui's deeply personal account of her search to uncover the history of her father's family in America. An original half-hour version of "A Family Gathering" was nominated for a 1988 Academy Award as best documentary short subject.

"The American Experience" at 9 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 17 on Mississippi ETV, presents a special expanded one-hour version that uses old family photographs, interviews and home movies to trace the Yasui family history—from the arrival of Lise's grandfather, Masuo, in Oregon in 1903, to his incarceration during and after World War II and the efforts he made to rebuild his life.

Taylor in lan

BY D.C. HARVILL
Gene Taylor handed the Democratic party a major victory over Republican Anderson, he reclaimed the Fifth District congressional seat.

The Democrats had lost the post in the House representatives since losing Trent Lott 17 years ago.

Taylor, state senator from Bay St. Louis, took 65 percent of the vote to Anderson's 35 percent—nearly a 2-1 margin. The unofficial final tally Tuesday's runoff election showed 83,093 votes for Taylor and 44,430 for Anderson.

"You did a great job," emotional Taylor told supporters gathered at the Beach Motor Inn in Ocean Springs. "I'm proud of you."

Anderson, 43, a former staff to U.S. Senator Trent Lott, conceded defeat Tuesday.

Anderson and Taylor were vying for a runoff election for the position left vacant by the death of U.S. Representative Smith, who died in an airplane crash.

Taylor ran for the House against Smith in November, losing with 42 percent of the vote.

"The days when the brokers decide who's going to Washington are over. I sent a message that the people determine that, not the brokers in Washington," Taylor told the crowd.
